Thursday, February 3. 1726.

London, February 3.
Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland, and another from France.

Warsaw, January 19.
AS there cannot be a Council of the Senate during the Limitation of a General Dyet, the Senators will hold their Assemblies under the Name of Congress: The first Conference which had been put off to Yesterday, has again been deferred to the 22d Instant, in hopes the Generals and other absent Senators will come before that time to assist thereat. The Bishop of Cracow arrived just before the Courier set out, and the Crown General is hourly expected. The Primate of the Kingdom, who arrived the 13th, has been complimented by all the Foreign Ministers.

Warsaw, Jan. 21. The Dukes of Courland and Mecklenbourg have been here some Days incognito, as well to recommend their Interests to the King, as to partake of the Diversions of the Carnaval, which will last till the End of next Month. His Majesty has named Count de Poniatowski to serve and assist the Prince Royal as Minister. Nothing has as yet been concluded touching our Alliance with Russia. A Fire having broke out in the King's Stables, the whole Building has been reduced to Ashes, and 28 of his Majesty's Horses, and a great Quantity of Forage, consumed.

Paris, Feb. 2. His Majesty has conferred the second Lieutenantcy of the first Company of the Grand Mousquetaires, vacant by the Decease of the Chevalier de Cruset, to the Chevalier Dartagnan. His Majesty has likewise given M. d'Erville, an Officer in the same Company, a Recompence of 30000 Livres, with a yearly Pension of 1800, for the good Services he has done. Count de Beauhornois, Gouverneur of Canada, and M. Dupuy, Intendant of the same Province, will set out together in March next for Quebec. On the 29th past a Courier arrived here from Munich with Advice, that the Duke of Bavaria was much better. The Dutchesse du Lude has bequeathed by her last Will 100,000 Livres to Madame la Marechale de Boufflers; the like Sum to the Marquess de Nangis, payable after the Duke de Sully's Decease; 100,000 Livres to the Duke de Bethune, eldest Son to the Duke de Charost; 60,000 Livres to M. de Ravetot, her Relation; two Diamonds, valued at 40,000 Livres each, to the Duke and Dutchesse de Roquelaure, which after their Decease are to go over to their two Daughters; her fine Ruby to the Marechal of Villeroy; a Diamond valued at 30,000 Livres to the first President in Parliament, who is her Executor; a Diamond to Madame de Bagnols, Wife to the Intendant of Flanders; a Diamond worth 20,000 Livres to Madame de Herse, one of her Friends; her Ear-Rings to Madame de Sully; a rich Diamond to M. Belanger, her Notary; 5000 Livres to the Carmelites in the Suburb of St. Germain, where her Corpse is deposited; the like Sum to the Nuns of St. Mary, where her Heart is laid, and a like Sum to the Carmelites of Pontoise, where her Body is to be interred: She has also bequeathed 10,000 Livres to her Steward, with a Pension of 3000 Livres; 10,000 Livres to her Gentleman of the Horse, with all her Stables; 8000 Livres to her first Valer de Chambre, and a Pension of 400 Livres; her whole Wardrobe, valued at above 60,000 Livres, to her Waiting-Women; 2000

Livres and a Pension of 300, to her Swiss; she also leaves Legacies and Pensions to all her other Officers and Servants. 'Tis assured that the Duke de Sully, who is her nearest Relation and the next Heir, designs to get this Will annulled. 'Tis likewise said, that the Princess de Montbason designs also to get the Testament of Madame de Bouillon, her Sister, annulled, and that she had sent back the Pearl Necklace left her by that Will.

Paris, Feb. 6. The Comptroller-General of the Finances has sent Orders to the Receivers-General not to send any more Gold or Silver to Paris, but to have it consigned to the Mints nearest at Hand. As the lowering of the Gold and Silver Species was put in Execution on the first Instant, the Grocers and Tavern-Keepers have obtained Permission to consign the Money arising from the Duties of Import for the Goods they have upon the River, at the Rate of 14 Livres the Louis d'Or, and 3 Livres 10 Sous the Crown. On the 4th, the Edict was published for coining new Louis d'Ors of 30 to the Mark, at the Rate of 20 Livres each, and new Crowns at 8 3 10ths to the Mark, at the Rate of 5 Livres each, and Half Crowns and Quarter Pieces in Proportion. The Gold Species will be received in the Mints at the Rate of 492 Livres the Mark, and the Mark of Silver Species at the Rate of 34 Livres. M. le Basteur, who by a Science peculiar to himself pretends to prognosticate high Winds, Storms, and Tempests, foretold ever since the 6th of December last to several Persons of Distinction, and to the Abbot Raguier, Director of the India Company, the Tempest which happened the 18th of the same Month. He pretends, that on the 4th Instant there was a terrible Wind in Sweden, Muscovy, Denmark, in the Baltick, and in the North-Sea, and that on the 9th Instant, the like stormy Wind will be felt from Vienna to London, and from Lyons to Amsterdam; but as those Predictions so much resemble those of the Almanacks, we must see them fulfilled before we give Credit thereto.
